"And they shall beat their swords into plowshares....."

Micah 4:3

We of the Class of 1946 wish to express our conviction that only by being instrumental in the development of understanding among men and nations can we honor the men who died so that our voices might be heard, our opinions expressed. We shall always remember and honor these men from our school, for no man can do greater deeds in his lifetime than they have done in a few glorious moments.

FOREWORD

The 1946 Kenitorial is the result of the combined labors of many Kenmore Senior High School students. In reenforcing the bulwark of tradition, in presenting to new students the ideals and phases of our school life, and in immortalizing, by the extensive use of photography, our counselors, the faculty; our critics, the students; and our environment, the school; the editors of this yearbook have shown those boys whose souls have succumbed to the overpowering destructiveness of war that we shall cherish the opportunity—which they so dearly purchased for us—to view the future with hopeful eyes and expectant hearts.

ADMINISTRATION

Ah, but a man's reach should exceed his grasp,
Or what's a heaven for . . .

Browning

"Much have I traveled in the realms of gold" expresses the rich experiences of many young men and women of Kenmore who have known Mrs. Gertrude M. Chittenden, Head of the English Department, Kenmore Junior and Senior High Schools.

Under her leadership and direction we have gained a fuller meaning of idealism and inspiration; we have acquired an understanding of the finer aspects of life and appreciation of true culture. Moreover, we have shared her breadth of knowledge extending into many fields; we have gained a philosophy of friendliness and enduring patience, enhanced by years of teaching.

Though her active teaching ends this year, her guidance and rich personality will ever remain with us, expressed in her living philosophy, "and gladly would he learn and gladly teach."

Class History

To be an historian one must possess a pair of sharp scissors. With calculated strokes he must cut pieces from the perpetual sheet of existence until he has assembled the fragments of a story. Before me at this moment is a heap of such fragments. Let us see what sort of tale they tell.

On a clear, warm night in the latter part of June, 1943, four hundred seven students saw the doors close on three happy years of junior high school. The climax had been most fitting and satisfying, and we passed through those portals with the words of Dr. Butzer's address, Wings, echoing in our hearts. Before us lay the exciting promise of senior high.

We were a big experiment. As the tide of war rose in 1942 and 1943 a plan was inaugurated to speed up the teaching of mathematics. And so some of us struggled to complete elementary algebra and one-half year of plane geometry in two semesters of intensive work. Still another trial confronted us when we entered the senior high. Somebody in Albany had been blessed with the idea that all high school students should have two years of instruction in health. Accordingly, we, now the class of 1946, were given the privilege of being the first to be inoculated with concentrated doses of health over a period of two years. But this was not all. It was decided that in order to provide opportunity for the student to fail one extra subject, English III and junior American history would be crushed into one semester each and laid end to end, thereby leaving a period free. It was a noble gesture, but one which immediately cursed the office with another scourge. (i.e. "But Mr. Freeman—I didn't know that you couldn't take English III and junior American history the same semester.") Everyone was in favor of it but the students, the faculty, and the administration. Mrs. Chittenden still says it's a shame that we missed out on Idylls of the King and Julius Caesar.

The building looked awfully big when we first stepped into it in September, 1943. It took us some time to become accustomed to four stories and a horse-shoe shape. ("Oh—pardon me, Mr. Palmer. I thought this was the gymnasium.") Of course, the principals and the faculty tried to help, but for a while we were too awed by them to be able to make any practical use of their advice.

Few of us will ever forget how distinguished and imposing Mr. Freeman appeared to us when we first saw him on the stage. Three years have taught us well just how deserving of respect and admiration is our "Doc". He has given us three years of the same guidance and aid which he has given others before us, and he will continue to gently shape the paths of countless students through future high school years. Many will know and respect him, but none will ever be more grateful for him than we.

With an auspicious jump we entered our first year in KHS as the class elected Doug Hoffman, Phyllis Nonenmacher, Jim Michaelson, and Jim Kilburn as president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer respectively. Their careful and wise guidance was immediately reflected in the record of the class. The lion's share of the profits earned by the All-School Play, Seven Sisters, went into our strong box along with the plaudits gained by the several sophs who took part in the play. The class also sponsored the 1944 St. Patrick's Day Dance. But the peak of our year came at the Soph Hop held in the spring of 1944 and ruled by Prince Ben Kraus and Princess Aileen Sanders.

The following September we came willingly back to the fold and proceeded to choose as officers Jim Kilburn, president; Aileen Enright, vice-president; Phyllis Nonenmacher, secretary, and Ben Kraus, treasurer. And for the second year we walked off with the biggest share of profits from the All-School Play, Doodle Dandy of the U.S.A. But now we were JUNIORS! Now we were not the lowest form of life in the building. Our chests swelled (our heads, too), and we strode the halls like kings. We didn't even step aside to let seniors pass. Oh—how wonderful is youth! But however our vast supply of hot air inflated our egos, our record as a go-getting class continued. The Washington Day Dance, planned by Ben Kraus, was a great success, and the class books advanced deeper into the black side of the ledger. It was in April, however, that there took place what has come to be accepted as the outstanding theatrical event of the year, the Junior Show. Under the direction of Bill Mason and Jim Kilburn the class staged a production unparalleled in KHS history. All previous attendance records fell as students packed the auditorium. If they were in search of a full evening's entertainment, they had come to the right place. Especially appreciated by the audience were the specialty acts and the Honorable Judge, "Iron Talun", as played by Bill Weaver. Never will the "Chloe" act of Don Lathrop and Jack Goldsmith be forgotten by those who were lucky enough to be present.

Outside of the stage the Junior Prom provided the year's most important single event. Skillfully directed by Jim Kilburn and Aileen Enright, this formal occasion marked an astute step in improved interclass relations as the juniors invited the seniors to attend their dance. It took place on June 8, ruled over by King Ben Kraus and Queen Joyce Zurbrick, who each received an identification bracelet from the class. Joyce also was given flowers and Ben, a button-hole rose. The grand march was led by the King and Queen with Skip Board's Orchestra providing the music.

We were vacationing when the war ended in the summer of 1945, but the first, balmy thrill of peace had not yet worn off when we once more made our way through the open portals to begin another school year, our last. The vast wisdom of experience sat heavily on us now, for we were seniors. It was up to us to set the example for the sophs and juniors. No more could we do as our spirits willed; the eyes of the school were upon us. Ben Kraus was our president, his second year of service on the student council; Aileen Enright also was back for the second time as vice-president; Jim Kilburn, the champ, began his third year, this time as treasurer; and Nancy Holland, the new member, was elected secretary. The Senior Carnival was the first big event. Queen Shirley Pfeiffer reigned over a show which even outdid the Junior Show of the previous year, and in the high school pool, colored lights played on the finest Aquacade which has yet been seen in Kenmore. On April 5, the Senior Play Best Foot Forward was held before a large audience which acclaimed it as one of the best in KHS history.

As Editor-in-Chief of the 1946 Kenitorial, Aileen Enright made good use of eased restrictions to expand the yearbook. Through her efforts and those of the staff which she so ably directed, we will be able to recall in future years the happy days which are now almost behind us.

But history repeats. When in mid-March the membership of the Honor Club was announced, Phyllis Nease, Valedictorian, and June McPherson, Salutatorian, once again headed the forty students who made up the club. Genuine ability never goes unheralded.

While the Editor-in-Chief twisted my arm in an attempt to get this before the dead-line, plans called for the Senior Banquet and the Senior Ball to be held on June 20, the Thursday of Regent's week.

Well, all of my clippings are used up. I'm afraid my scissors weren't very sharp, because I know I didn't get all of the fragments of the story. One has to be fast to get them all, because life's stream flows rapidly, and the tiny chips on its surface are soon out of reach. I have gathered all I could; I have put them together. You may do with them as you will.

Robert James Krompart.

We, the Senior Class of 1946, have acquired through the last three years many valuable possessions. These articles have been collected slowly and painstakingly, and it is with heavy heart that we leave them behind. We trust that they will not fall into unappreciative hands.

To some trusting motorist, "Joe" Pearson leaves his keyless car.

Aileen Sanders, Joyce Zurbrick and Shirley Pfeiffer leave one cosmetic kit containing their mystic beauty secrets.

Harriet "Dewdrop" Starr leaves her ability to scrounge to anyone who thinks he can remain as well fed as she did in the past year.

To any person who likes to sit through a picture three or more times a night, Paul Vishion leaves a size 34 usher's uniform.

"Gert" Cook and "Barb" Book leave one well-supplied wardrobe to Margie Van Allen who has had quite a bit of trouble retaining her own skirts.

Dick Irvine leaves one well-worn record of "Paper Moon" and a hearty "Let's Go, K.H.S."

The answers to Miss Gendreau's addition problems are left by Barbara Frost to Connie Callanan, who will still be doing them long after we have left the sacred halls of our beloved alma mater.

Joan Rub and Frank Collins leave their loquacious giggles to Jimmy Huggins.

Bill Mason bequeaths one well-thumbed copy of "The Loves and Lives of Bill Mason," otherwise entitled "Nature Strikes Back."

To future student council presidents, Marge Otten leaves her recipe for tact, ability, personality, and perseverance.

Wayne Timby leaves a portion of his height to Bob Wilbee to enable him to reach the upper shelf of his locker.

Peggy Shaw and Del Decker leave behind their well-faded community gym suit to Rita Gruntz and Jean Tutton to enable them to get better marks on those popular "state" tests.

To all next year's P.A. announcers, Don "all-in-one-breath" Hayes and Bob "I have just begun to talk" Morgan leave one homeroom period free from all announcements.

Katy Moran leaves her personality, which has become obvious at the basketball games.

Bob Werner leaves a well-polished apple to anyone who wishes to succeed in K.H.S.

To other tired students, Ben Miller bequeaths a bottle of sleeping tablets, a pillow and a sign entitled "Do not disturb until the end of class."

Barbara Rideout leaves to Blake Butler, her ability to tell a joke for the third time and still get a laugh.

The Senior Class leaves an uncensored script to Mr. Frazier, who has suffered for us.

Our fleet-footed dancers of K.H.S., Nancy Devlin and Paul Fenwick, leave one soleless pair of winged ballet slippers to be used after they have double-timed their way out of school.

Jack Ross leaves his record of thirteen touchdowns to Joe Morog who, we hope, will lead us in a victorious bout against North Tonawanda.

To next year's ski enthusiasts we leave a snowy track and a winding trail with stretchers waiting at the bottom.

John Herlan wills one bolo knife and a package of ice cream to some hungry junior, namely Jim Kelly.

Last of all, finally, and in conclusion, we leave and just leave by the skin of our teeth.

CLASS

Here it is, July, 1966, and as we leave our work at Timby's Department Store, the manager, Larry Partridge, expresses his regret that he cannot accompany us to that exclusive resort, that Canadian paradise, that haven of rest—Long Beach.

We step into our Bobbie-car and tear across town, avoiding the hawk eyes of Inspector Tom McKeen of precinct number 854,946, Section XYZ. In a matter of seconds, we reach our exclusive hotel, The Swankmore, owned by Bill Bethmann and managed by Leslie Arnold. It is located on Highland and Delaware, previously the site of the Kenmore High School, which was destroyed by Carl Elliott, who went mad after being confined in room 324 for 500 nights. We take the elevator to the Sky-lite apartments on the 79th floor. Shirley Phelps, Winifred Guthrie, and Margaret Hertzberg, our hair, face, and nail artists, have already arrived. As we freshen up, our maid packs the trunks. Going on to the terrace we find that Howie Roetzer, our air chauffeur, has already arrived with our atomic-powered helicopter. Giving him instructions, we begin our five-minute journey to Long.

After eight long minutes, (we had engine trouble), we arrive at Long Beach airport, where we find Admiral Nicholson and General Williams conferring over the great problem of moving Long Beach to within a three-minute journey from Kenmore. Jeannine Cole, the stewardess, heartily agrees that this should be done. She thinks that if this could be arranged the school pupils could take a dip in the cool waters of Lake Erie during their lunch hour.

We hail a taxi to take us to the Lakeside Hotel, where we hope to have a very enjoyable stay. Arvilla Layer, the taxi driver, informs us that we will have to share the ride with that well-known author, Arlene Larson, who wrote How to Get Along With Your Teachers in Ten Easy Lessons or Six Hard Ones, or Ten Nights' Detention.

Arriving at the hotel, we enter the lobby and see the manager, who rings for John Deney, the bell-boy, to take our luggage to our suite, just vacated by that well-known woman psychologist, Aileen Enright. Since she has had a few week-end guests, we notice Bill Wegener and Mark Gregoire taking down the pink and blue padding from the walls. She tells us that Senator Morton Klaiber from New York State is having a few guests in and wishes us to join him later in the evening.

After a brief rest and dinner in the Pine Room, we go to the reception where we meet Jack Ross, coach of the Notre Dame football team, Pete Miller, coach of the track team, and David Rittenhouse, Chief String-Changer of Harvard's yo-yo team. Becoming bored with so many celebrities, we return to our own room and drift off to sleep.

Bright and early the next morning, we don our bathing suits and leave for the beach. Jerry Cameron and Nancy Steadman, the international swimming champions, accompany us. As we reach the white sands and blue waters, we find Sally Smith and Nan Miller posing for Dot Northup and Don Larson, celebrated artists for Esquire. Also on the beach we meet Doug Kelley and Jim Helle, who are purchasing hot dogs from Jack Tylee. Further down the beach we notice Ben Kraus, that handsome life-guard surrounded by a group of feminine admirers.

When we have become sufficiently tanned, we return to the Coffee Shop, now managed by Chuck Schuch, whom we find conferring with Susan Scull over the grocery situation. After deciding to purchase from Werner's Grocery Store instead of from Stosh Westcott (who turned out to be quite the scrounger), Chuck comes over to tell us that the new dance hall has posted its schedule for the summer, featuring Marc Clark's orchestra with Paul Hanson at the piano.

Finding that we need some new clothes for the dance, we go to Sue Maundrell's exclusive dress shop, to which Frances Carpenter has just returned from Paris with the latest styles. After selecting a few dresses, we go to Marilyn Cato's boardwalk store to buy some unmentionables.

After our shopping excursion, we drop into Hunter's Drug Store for a coke before going on to the theater. There we find Joyce Zurbrick and Jim Michaelson talking to each other in low voices while Jean Murphy and Dink Andersen are still coyly holding hands in the back booth.

Realizing we must hurry to catch the first show, we purchase our tickets from Arlene Edgington, the ticket girl. The doorman, Don Bradley, takes the tickets, and after Ronald Stainsby, the usher, shows us to our seats, we become entranced with the picture. The dialogue starts, and we find the title to be The Corn Is Yellow, a very calloused production starring Joey Schwartz, directed by Don Lathrop, and produced by Jack Goldsmith The sound effects man is Jim Ray; costumes were designed by Nancy Devlin; and make up was applied by Joan Rub.

PROPHECY

After a very enjoyable two hours, we prepare to leave the theater. In the lobby we talk to Jim Carberry, the owner of the theater, and Pat Mundie, the well-known writer.

While resting at the hotel, Ronnie Schmucker of the florist shop notifies us that the Rellinger Rose Shipment (developed by that eminent horticulturist, Betty Parsons, in honor of Robert Rellinger, hero of World War II) will be ready to supply us with corsages for the dance.

Arriving at the dance hall, we notice a ring formed around the two dance specialists of the day, JoAnn Bickerton and Paul Fenwick. Serving the refreshments, we find John Herlan still dishing out the ice cream on a mass production basis. At one of the tables we see the noted woman senator, Phyllis Nease, and James Kilburn, Secretary of the Exterior. As the dance comes to an end, the same old question arises, "Do you have your plane here? Will you fly me home?"

Early the next morning we decide to change our regular routine and go to church where the Reverend Ronnie Fitts will preside. Upon arriving we see Lois Wenz at the organ, while the altar boys, Lee Illig and Richard Lamy, light the candles. The church is hushed as Reverend Fitts starts his sermon, "The Evils of Drink." After a two-hour sermon, Jimmy Anderson and John Aungst pass the collection plate, before which we leave.

To pass the afternoon we take in a concert at Duchscherer National Park. We find that the concert is being held between the statues of those two great historians, Lord Charles Marlak and Eldon Somers (Lord), who passed away as the result of the foolish answers of the graduating class of the year 1946. The first selection is the Waltz in C♯ Minor followed by Mary the Loon, a sequel to Claire de Lune, which is played by Janet Becker. Next on the program we find that Ronne Fiddler is going to sing a selection from Carmen. Realizing that that is too much for any normal person to stand, we slip out through the back of the park, only to find ourselves confronted by that talkative scientist, Roger Knuth. We talk to this eminent personality until we are rudely interrupted by Jack Hollis and Roger Hancher, occupying the upper and lower sections of bench number A-3, presented to Long because of the shortage of housing facilities—(there have been rumors that people have even had to sleep on the beach).

We drop over to Joe Pearson's Silver Peacock (named in loving memories of the good old days) where we sip our cokes mixed by "Moose" Gilbert—an excellent jerk; soda, that is. We share our booth with Phyllis Nonenmacher and Shirley Kimble. In the next booth we find Pat Rankin and Janice Rappleye piping a maroon sweater with a large "T" on it. What's this—they're leaving as they notice Syd Holmberg and Steve Wiktorowski, Kenmore's contribution to the 1950 All-American Football Team.

Hurrying back to our hotel, we put on our nylon dungarees and spun glass shirts. (That was a joke, can you see through it?) These articles of clothing were designed by Rosemary Brownjohn, who works for the Shaeffer Clothing Corporation, managed by Duane Tucker. As we arrive at the Clam-bake, we are greeted by Alice Bartlett, the Ambassadress to Spain. She is accompanied by Don Hayes, the prominent lawyer. That exotic actress, Leslie Brecht, is found there with Marilyn Davidson, who is her companion. They have just arrived from "F'I-cood-I-wood" which recently replaced Hollywood. Ever since her experience with the wolves on Nice and Tender Avenues, she has insisted that she be accompanied by her manager at all times. Her manager, Robert Crean, has had quite a bit of trouble beating off the autograph hounds, Donald Redman and Walter Zavitz. A blinding light is flashed in the middle of the group on the beach. We find it to be Mary Ellen Hipkins, photographer, who is taking pictures for "Life Goes to a Clam-bake." She snaps a picture of Joan Ashe, Jean Dunkelberg, Barbara Frost, and Nancy Warman opening clams. Dick Porter, after eating 999,999 clams, is still looking for a pearl. After a few pictures have been taken, and the clams have all been eaten, the groups split up. Bud Fleming, Jimmy McDermott, and Bob Hall are seen strolling down the beach with some "hubba-hubba" girls who are indistinguishable from this distance. Sally Campbell, Ella Johnson, Nancy Rauh and Will Still (no relation to the late Stan Still) go over to toast some marshmallows, and Audrey McGeachie goes down to the beach with Joan Jacobs to take a dip in the moonlight. We realize that we once again have to leave Long Beach until our next weekend.

As our helicopter rises above moonlit Lake Erie, we bid fond farewell to the ever-popular mecca of Kenmorites, Long Beach.

Junior Class History

In the short space of less than two years, the class of '47 has contributed its full share to the accomplishments of Kenmore Senior High School. This hard working and energetic class is known for its originality, ambition, and good scholarship. To retell all the things it has done would take many pages, so we will try to give you a few of the highlights in telling its history.

In the fall of 1944, a bewildered class of sophomores walked the labyrinthine halls of Kenmore Senior High School for the first time. After only a few short weeks we, the class of '47, got our bearings and started under way, full steam ahead.

Our class first showed its good judgment when we elected as our officers—Nancy Devlin, president; Jim Kelly, vice-president; Lois Timby, treasurer; and Bernie Graham, secretary.

As the year's events began to unfold, we found that our sophomores were everywhere giving their loyal support. Many members of our class were on the athletic teams, in clubs at school, and it was a sophomore, Dick Chelius, who captured the lead in the all school play, "Doodle Dandy".

In the spring the spirit of ambition once more took hold of us, and on April 27 we gave a Sophomore Show and dance that was a smashing success. Less than a month later, on May 18, we put on a closed, formal Soph Hop, a thing never tried before. Our prince and princess were Lois Ingersoll and Skip Board, who stepped down from the band stand to lead us in the grand march.

The next fall, when we returned to school once more, we found ourselves looked up to as juniors, a far cry from the bewildered sophomores we had been. It took us no time at all to get back into the swing of things with our usual ambition. How could we have better started the year than to elect as our officers—Lois Timby, president; Bernie Graham, vice-president; Lois Ingersoll, secretary; and Paul Hanson, treasurer?

With leaders like these, how could we help but be an outstanding class? We set about to prove this in every way we could. Nearly every club and outside activity found itself strongly supported by juniors. Once again members of our class walked away with three leads in the all school play "Arsenic and Old Lace."

Our first event of the year was a Valentine's Day dance on February 15 held in the high school gym. In March, we presented one of the biggest and best Junior Shows ever given in Kenmore High School. We know how much everyone looks forward to this annual event so we gave a show that delighted everyone. Much of the credit for the show's success goes to Lois Timby and Allan Smith for their capable leadership and to Mr. Somers for being our sponsor.

Plans are now underway for the Junior Prom, another outstanding dance sponsored by the Junior Class.

With these accomplishments behind us and a challenge for next year ahead of us, we hope with all sincerity to prove ourselves worthy of the high standards set by those who have gone before us.

Sophomore Class History

Gather around, little children, and your poor old granny will tell you all about the Sophomore Class of 1946. Ah yes, how well I remember that Sophomore Class! Why it seems only yesterday that we had just come to the Senior High School, and there we were, always getting lost! Then we'd ask a senior where some room was, and he would send us the wrong way. I can see it all now . . . the rides we got in the elevator, the trudging up and down those three flights of stairs. I wonder why I never had two periods in a row on the same floor?

And then our sophomore officers—I can remember them even now! Jack O'Neill was President—my, he was such a nice boy—I wonder whatever happened to him? Maybe he's still selling vegetables in Seifreid's grocery store. And Shirley Larson, (she was the Vice-President), always trying to get transportation for the students to the out-of-town games. Peggy Cole, the Secretary, was always doing that, too. They worked so hard, the poor girls. And Bud Knisley, class Treasurer, had such fun handling the finances—I remember the time he sold tickets at a basketball game for a school dance—and almost had a riot on his hands because there were so many buyers. Yes, indeed, when I was a sophomore we certainly knew how to pick our officers!

I tell you, children, that Sophomore class was right in the midst of everything! 1946—those were the Good Old Days! Nothing like these modern times when every boy is driving around in his rebuilt autogyro—no sir, in those days we had cars or nothing! Then in January a new group of students came to become part of our sophomore class. They seemed to have the same troubles we first did when we were new sophomores—oh yes, we told them the wrong things to do, too—didn't we, grandpa?

In those days we really had a good time. Take the Sophomore Show—did we ever have a riot with that! No one knew his part until the night of the show! I still remember the date—it was May 10! And we were so excited and nervous and worried about it. Oh, me! And then the Sophomore Hop on May 17. That was a smashing success too! Funny, I know who the Prince and Princess were, but I can't seem to recall their names! To think they're white-haired now just like your grandpa and me! Time certainly does rush past in a hurry, doesn't it? And speaking of time makes me think you'd better be getting to bed now, children, and leave me here to look through my old Kenitorials—they bring back such pleasant memories.

Veterans and Post Graduates

The enrollment of Kenmore Senior High School has been increased by the return of many veterans and an increase in the number of students doing post-graduate work. The present post-graduate homeroom, in which the veterans are also placed, contains twenty-two pupils, which number is quite a contrast to the 1943 "war casualty" homeroom of three students. Seventeen of these students are veterans, ten of whom are post-graduates; the remainder are completing their education before entering college or business.

The rules of the school have been suspended as much as possible to provide the veterans with an atmosphere of freedom.

These students seem to feel that a difference exists between their fellow pupils of today, and those of the early 1940's. Not only are the former young in their actions, but they seem to the veterans less conscientious in their studies. Perhaps the changed times and environment of the present day students can account for the difference. Most of the faculty seem to feel that the returned soldiers are easier to handle than the carefree students of today. Experience with other people may provide the basis for this difference in the two outlooks.

We are glad to welcome the vets back to their alma mater, and we sincerely hope that they are glad to be back.

SCHOOL LIFE

School Life

"Machines you want? We got 'em!" Training like this should come in handy some day.

"What's cooking, chickens?" With this kind of training in home economics, these girls should make good wives.

"Have you sent my record to college yet?" Here we have two of our competent office staff busily at work.

School Life

"Ya say it's cold? Tell ya what I'm gonna do." These are two of the three huge furnaces that help keep us warm during the cold winter months, thanks to our efficient janitors.

"So proudly we hail!" And we hail Mr. Prudhomme, too, for all he does for us. This scene is enacted every day in front of good old KHS.

"We have announcements, you know, in case you haven't heard." Thanks to these people we students know the time of our club meetings and local news at KHS.

School Life

See the birdie? Now you see it, now you don't. A typical scene taken during one of the girls' gym classes.

"That's food, son. Oh boy, lunch!" Every day we see these cheery fellows during the late lunch period in the West cafeteria.

Good form all right, but why not mix it up a little? Physical education plays an important part in the daily lives of KHS students.

School Life

They can't all be Tarzans. These fellows must ascend and descend these ropes to receive a passing grade. Well, who wanted to pass anyway?

Time to put the feedbag on, and we say it's about time! We only wish every period were lunch time.

Leg workout, but who needs it? The object is to kick the ball, of course.

School Life

"All right, let's go; asdf;lkj" Here we have some business students getting ready for another lesson.

Work? What's that? Potential engineers in one of our mechanical drawing classes.

"But, Miss Jones, I just don't understand." We at Kenmore just love math, as can be seen by the cheerful expressions on the students' faces. "That's a joke, son."

School Life

"Why is it red, Mr. Gladieux?" "Because of its color, children, because of its color." This is the type of question that gets around hard assignments.

"Sew what?" More training in home economics for girls in KHS.

Art? More of it, we say! Our art teachers are tops. And as one can see, our students take full advantage of the fact.

School Life

Key punchers. This time adding in another business class.

"Arsenic and Old Lace." We lost more students that way what with all the bodies down cellar. Highly sanitary, though, with services. It's only the all-school play.

Woodworking? What will they try next? Who ever heard of wood WORKING? Well, anyway, the students are hard working.

School Life

If you feel hungry during a dance, just drop into the teachers' cafeteria where refreshments can be had to suit everyone's taste.

China, via suggestive sets and costumes gives us the Thespian play, "Thrice Promised Bride."

"Don't blow a fuse, fellows." One of the classes in our Industrial Arts Department.

School Life

These boys are pretty sharp on skates, and they have to be if they want to be on one of the intramural hockey teams.

"What did you get for the mechanical advantage of the third problem?" Some of our future scientists at work in one of our physics classes.

"Track, or how do you stop these things." That's what you hear on the slopes when Kenmore High students go skiing.

Honor Club

In order to establish a wise, satisfactory, and above all, a permanent peace, the nations of the world must produce men and women of superior intelligence, education, and character. Our nation must be a leader in international affairs; therefore, we must produce more scientists, economists, statesmen, and the like, than any of our neighbors.

The members of the Honor Club are the students most highly qualified for wise and useful participation in the complex life of tomorrow. They have proved this statement by completing their high school years in the upper tenth of their large class, with averages far above normal.

This indicates not only great natural ability but also diligent and conscientious study. In order to maintain so high a standard of achievement, it is necessary to attain high grades not occasionally but at all times during a four year period.

These people have worked in difficult courses calculated to serve as a firm foundation for continued studies where their industry will again insure their success.

Our Honor Club proves untrue the popular conception that if one excels in scholastic ability he has time for nothing else. Here are represented class officers, members of the debate group, some of the best dramatic talent in the school, musicians, members of Alpha Phi Lambda, students prominent in athletics, members of the science club, workers for the Kenitorial, and participants in many other phases of school life.

These, then, are the most worthy members of our Class of 1946, the contribution of Kenmore High School to the world of the future.

KENITORIAL

It was no easy task to create the Kenitorial for 1946. The amount of work required to bring you this annual is truly amazing. Choosing a cover, deciding on a style for pictures and printing, being sure to include all groups worthy of mention, arranging pictures, and supervising write-ups was work that had to be done with speed and efficiency.

Our board of editors, aided by Mr. Frazier and Mr. Spears whose work and co-operation were indispensable to the book's completion, have expended a great amount of time, energy, and thought to create this year's Kenitorial which stands as proof of their careful and painstaking efforts.

This book could never have been completed without the aid of a competent and industrious staff. To these people fell the tasks of creating the majority of the write-ups, of writing captions, of drawing up the class will and prophecy, of contacting groups within the school, of planning the art work, and of arranging for advertisements. Working wholeheartedly with and for the editors, they developed the original scant outline into the finished product.

Having been assigned his particular duty, each member worked diligently until he had completed his contribution. The co-operation, energy, and the efficiency of these people combined to make the 1946 Kenitorial a reality.

Student Council

Under the prominent leadership and hard work of its first girl president, Marjorie Otten, the Student Council this year accomplished many unusual and outstanding things. Perhaps one of the most important and appreciated tasks was that of organizing the school paper, the Newscaster, which became extremely popular with the students. The Council also inaugurated weekly dances, which helped to build the general fund. The snack bar in the teachers' cafeteria was reopened for school dances.

Two memorable football dances were held in the fall with pep rallies led by the cheerleaders. At one of these affairs 667 students were in attendance.

The reverse Christmas dance, featuring Mr. Eldon Somers as Santa Claus, climaxed the season. Candy kisses were given to all, and the gayly lighted tree added to the festivities.

Welcome bus rides were supplied for the many football enthusiasts wishing to attend the out-of-town games. Rides were also gratefully accepted by the cheerleaders in order that they might support the basketball team when it played away from home.

The minutes of the Student Council meetings were posted on the bulletin board, and the president designated a specific time for weekly meetings.

The Council conducted several very successful drives this year, a clothing drive for the Greek children receiving the most gratifying response. The annual March of Dimes and Red Cross Drive resulted in very favorable receipts also.

This spring the Council did something new. It adopted a European war orphan and sent about $90 to keep her for six months.

The Student Council has done a fine job, and the school may well be proud of it.

National Thespian Society

Troop 108

First Row: R. Chelius; Jim Ray, Vice President; J. Alexander, D. Danielson, K. Marshall.

Second Row: M. Miller, President; J. Schwartz, Secretary; S. Clabeau, M. Joslin, M. Hertzberg, B. Fleming, Miss Strong, Adviser; D. Seifried, P. Shaw, M. Scheib, B. Saunders, M. Steward, F. Rowland.

Beginning the year with eight members, the Thespians made an occasion of their November initiation by inviting parents and teachers to attend. Eleven new members became Thespians.

Two Thespian assembly programs proved unique in presentation: Thrice Promised Bride, a Chinese play, presented with the Chinese traditions of acting, and Dwellers in the Darkness, a supernatural story presented by "radio" from office to homerooms.

Theatre parties occupied much of the Thespians' interest, especially when one of their members, Richard Chelius, acted in Damask Cheek at the Studio Theatre.

Former members from the armed forces and college were welcomed at meetings and the spring banquet.

Junior Thespians

Junior Thespians were organized late in the year and worked with the difficulty of a changing membership. Perhaps it looked to some people like too much effort to acquire credits to become a Thespian. In the second term, however, the Junior Thespians became a well organized club working on stage craft. Practical lessons in makeup and making back stage effects proved to be entertaining as well as instructive.

First Row: V. Masse; P. Martin; F. Graley; B. White; R. Mason; Vice President; Miss Strong, Adviser; M. Owen, President; M. Baase, Secretary; M. Hood, Treasurer; C. Callanan; T. Burns.

Alpha Phi Lambda

First Row: J. Gordon, E. Berdick, D. Decker, M. Steward, J. Schwartz, M. Hertzberg, J. Wark.
Second Row: E. Condrell, D. Lathrop, H. Hollwedel, Secretary; M. Miller, President; Miss E. Chittenden, Adviser; K. Marshall, Vice President; L. Hannay, S. Fox, M. Joslin, C. Besosa, S. Scull.
Third Row: W. Whallon, R. Knuth, C. Barrett, J. Tyler, J. Doerflein. Not in picture, D. Hayes, Treasurer.

Alpha Phi Lambda is a literary club which encourages creative writing. This past year has been a most active and successful one. The membership quota, set forth in the club's constitution as thirty members, was reached and could have been surpassed.

To join the club, one must submit a sample of his own creative writing—a poem, a story, an essay, or a novel. At the next meeting, the manuscript is read and discussed without the members' knowledge of its author. If it is approved, the person is accepted into the club. One very important activity of Alpha Phi Lambda is the editing and publishing of The Flame, a small annual booklet, containing the best original works contributed by the members.

Miss Elizabeth Chittenden is the club's supervisor, and Madeline Miller served as this year's able president.

Do, Re, Mi

Among the programs presented by the Girls' Choir under the direction of Mr. McLaughlin during the first semester of the year, was the presentation of musical selections for the school's traditional Armistice Day Program. For their Christmas program the choir sang the Christmas portion of Handel's "Messiah". The soloists were Jane Donner, Carol Uthe, and Martha Stewart. At the Easter program the cantata "The Thorn Crowned King" was given. In the late spring the choir gave a concert in the ballroom of the Hotel Statler for the District Rotary Club Convention. Some of the numbers presented were, "The Lord's Prayer", Gounod's "Sanctus", "Holiday for Strings" and "I'll See You Again".

Debate Society

First Row: J. Williams, M. Dubke, E. Condrell, R. Albright.
Second Row: R. Krompart, C. Barrett, F. Moffatt, D. Hayes, Mr. Braunton, Adviser.

Resolved: Every able-bodied male citizen of the United States should have one year of full time military training before reaching the age of twenty-four.

This was the topic which this year brought the Debate team one victory and three losses. Under the guidance of Mr. Braunton, the negative team, made up of Robert Krompart and Donald Hayes, lost to Jamestown but won the debate with Fredonia; the affirmative team, Elaine Condrell and Janet Williams, bowed to both Jamestown and Fredonia.

All worked long and hard preparing their speeches and much credit should be given them for they proved to be good losers and equally good winners.

Grease Paint

Thursday Night Dramatics Class studied actors, acting and stage terms, applying their instruction in the presentation of one-act plays. There was one decided disadvantage, or perhaps disappointing feature—the class was entirely female. Can it be that "the male" considers Dramatics a "Sissy" study, or is it that so many boys did not know how to dance or swim?

First Row: J. Dossert, F. Graley, M. Otten, G. Dorries, President; S. Detwiler, T. Loehner, Miss Strong, Adviser; C. Besosa, B. Izard, E. Fitchijian, B. Derner.

Through the various activities in which they participate, the members of the French Club are ever gaining a greater appreciation of France and her people. The Club is under the guidance of Miss Gendreau and has elected as its president Shirley Allan.

Since there is no better way of gaining an understanding of a country than through the study of its language, the primary aim of the group is to teach its members to speak French fluently; therefore, the meetings are conducted entirely in this language. Then too, playing French games and singing French songs constitutes an important portion of the program.

The club combines pleasure with purpose for besides having an enjoyable time, these students acquire an understanding of the habits and culture of the French people.

In recent years our nation has become increasingly conscious of our neighbors to the south. In order to stimulate this interest as well as to promote better understanding of these countries, the members of the Spanish Club have arranged a series of programs. At each of these programs, one South American country is studied. Thus far, the history, customs, and amusements of Argentina, Venezuela, and Mexico have been discussed, and in some instances, movies have been shown. So that other Kenmore students might learn more about our South American neighbors, a club committee planned an interesting display case for Pan-American Day, April 14.

Since this club so thoroughly discusses South American countries, it provides a vital aid to the Spanish students who desire a background for their courses.

Miss Margaret Alvord is adviser and Robert Krompart, president.

Apostulī Romulī

The study of the customs, culture, and wonders of the Roman Empire is the principal objective of the Latin Club under the supervision of Miss Barrows. The club offices correspond with those which existed under the Roman system of Government; thus, the office of president is held instead by two consuls, Marjorie Otten and Virginia Wells; similarly the offices of the two judges become that of praetors; secretary, aedile; and treasurer, quaestor.

So that students may develop a keener appreciation of early culture, each meeting is devoted to the discussion of subjects concerning Rome and the ancient world. Such topics as Roman architecture, Latin derivation, and the wonders of the ancient world are but a few of the varied themes on which interesting and valuable talks are prepared.

First Row: E. Condrell; S. Carroll; J. Maltzahn; A. Schoelles; R. Hall, point keeper; P. Hammond; M. Weikal; J. Wing; L. Ingersoll; S. Peard.
Second Row: J. Saunders; B. Krauss; T. Kraus; J. MacKinnon, quaestor; B. Bodenbender, praetor; M. Otten, consul; Miss Barrows, adviser; V. Wells, S. Packer, praetor; S. Allan, aedile; M. Hertzberg; N. Wilson.
Third Row: M. Butler; H. Cartwright; S. Eberle; M. Dillon; B. Parsons; R. Albright; R. Fiddler; D. Hayes; D. Kreher; B. Fleming; E. Bertsch; M. Hood; M. Morgan; G. Chambers.

At the opening of school this fall, Miss Harms' German Club elected Barbara Fauser as president and Martha Steward as program chairman. Throughout the previous semester several interesting programs were presented, one of which was a talk by Mr. Kapeller, a lecturer born in Magdeburg, Germany. Mr. Kapeller described his home town in his native tongue and later translated his talk into English, thus enabling all to understand easily. In December an impressive Christmas program was presented in which Philip Hessinger read in German the Bible story of the Birth of Christ.

Meetings were planned at which the members conversed in German. The chief aim of the club members is to gain greater ease in speaking German through practice and conversation.

First Row: N. Wilson; J. Gipp; T. Loehner; Secretary, R. Gruntz; J. Kreinberg; Sergeant at Arms, J. Hubbard; Treasurer, B. Fauser, president; Miss Harms, Adviser; President, P. Hessinger; E. Levey; G. Tomlin; P. Gable.

The Art Round Table is made up of a group of students interested in art and in furthering their artistic talents through discussion, field trips, and experience. Because of the large number wishing to join, boys were admitted to the club this year for the first time. Under its supervisor, Miss Margaret E. Chase, the club's activities this year have been varied and interesting. One outstanding activity was a trip to the Albright Art Gallery to view an exhibition of famous Courier and Ives prints. In December the annual Christmas sale was sponsored by the Art Round Table, at which time painted glassware, decorated cookie jars and ash trays, and clever felt pins made by the members were sold. During the year the club also experimented in clay modeling. Another important project consisted of designing the division pages for the Kenitorial.

It's All Business

The Commercial Club was started in January 1945, and has as its advisers Mr. Grefe and Mr. Witzig. The club's purposes are to increase an interest in commercial work, to learn more about progressive business methods, to encourage the development of personal qualifications for the business world, and to instill worthy business ethics.

First Row: Mr. Witzig; Mr. Grefe; C. Blakeslee; M. Mayo, Secretary; L. Wenz, President; S. Smyth, Vice President; B. Schafer, Treasurer; D. Schuster.
Second Row: H. Kurzawa; J. Hagen; L. Alles; P. Chapman; J. Damon; D. Drappo; L. Lyon; J. May; S. Schuster; M. Napier.
Third Row: L. Blum; J. Purcell; S. Fox; H. Bull; M. Lewis; J. Fyfe; H. Moreland; P. Rees; M. Chittenden; R. Storck; C. Quattrini; D. Neff; E. Johnson.

This year the club has visited modern offices and business schools and has had several speakers who talked on the opportunities in business. At the March meeting, it entertained the commercial teachers. Members handled the sale of tickets for the Senior Play and acted as ushers at P.T.A. meetings.

First Row: J. Anderson, G. Miller, P. Fenwick, D. Kelley, Treasurer; D. Hayes, Vice President; Mr. Braunton, Adviser; R. Morgan, President; R. Hall, Corresponding Secretary; R. Albright, Historian; J. Oliver, R. Coates.

Hi-Y

"To create, maintain and extend high standards of Christian character" has been the guiding purpose of the Hi-Y for over a quarter of a century. Under the leadership of William H. Braunton, this organization has prepared boys for useful citizenship and for fuller lives by discussion of the elementary facts of existence and useful living and by actually practicing the sermon which they have preached.

This year marked the revival of several of the club's outstanding activities. During the war years the scope of the club's activities was restricted, and last year, because of its adviser's unfortunate illness, outside work almost came to a standstill. However, with Mr. Braunton back, and under the able leadership of Robert Morgan, president; Donald Hayes, vice-president; Robert Hall, corresponding secretary; Roger Hancher, recording secretary; and Douglas Kelley, treasurer, the club resumed a full schedule. On December 26, 1945, the club held its Alumni Banquet. During February and March of 1946 the Deputation Team gave five services in local churches, sent speakers to present the core of the service before the Kenmore Kiwanis Club, and gave its Bill of Rights Week assembly before the school. Four members were delegated from the club to the Youth Conference of the YMCA at Fredonia held on April 5, 6, and 7. In the Fall, discussions concerning "Colleges," and in the Spring, "Me, Myself," were led by Mr. Braunton. In line with the policy of the club to train leaders for the community, several of the members served as directors of young boys' groups at the YMCA.

Shooting Stars

The very active Rifle Club was continued again this year with Mr. Cutter as its sponsor. The boys now meet twice a week, every Monday evening at the Buffalo Shooting Club for first-hand shooting practice, and every Thursday for a business meeting and appropriate discussions. The latter centers about various types of arms and ammunition as well as styles of shooting. Since the members own many makes of rifles, they find it easy to study different techniques. At present books are being bought for their own use, and recently 10,000 rounds of ammunition were purchased. Matches were held with Amherst and Lancaster. The officers of the club are Robert Molloy, President; Tony Means, Vice-President; Newton Fisk, Treasurer; and Donald Mitchell, Secretary. Many promising shooters form the club, but among the best are Robert Molloy, Tony Means, and Carl Scherer.

The Sweater Boys

To promote better sportsmanship in athletics and to promote better school spirit: This fine aim is the purpose of the Boys' Letter Club. In order to qualify for membership, a boy must have received a letter for some varsity sport recognized by the Kenmore Athletic Association. The adviser of the club is Mr. Offenhamer and the officers are George Miller, President; Franklyn Collins, Vice-President; Stanley Westcott, Recording Secretary; Douglas Kelley, Corresponding Secretary; and Ben Kraus, Treasurer.

The Letter Day assembly this year, sponsored by Mr. Offenhamer and the Letter Club, was a unique sports quiz, held after the presentation of letters. The contestants were the former captain, Roger Hancher, swimming; and Skip Stellrecht, basketball, versus the new captain, Don Peck, swimming; and John Theobald, co-captain of basketball.

First Row: P. Gable, H. Cornell, P. Fenwick, D. Kelley, Corresponding Secretary; F. Collins, Vice President; Mr. Offenhamer, Adviser; G. Miller, President; J. Helle, P. Vishion, B. Mason, D. Duchscherer.

Atom Busters

The Science Club, reorganized this year under the guidance of Mr. Carl, is a member of the Science Clubs of America, a national organization.

The general theme and interests of the club have been centered around biology and natural science, and its primary activity has been the breeding of various animals, such as mice, rabbits, and rats. The members took a field trip early this spring to find signs of the forthcoming season.

A number of the students became interested in chemistry and made use of the laboratory to perform such experiments as distilling alcohol and making synthetic Bakelite.

First Row: J. Serneels; D. Nichter; M. Dubke; J. Lane; R. Johnson, Vice President.

Second Row: R. Gilbert; Mr. Carl, Adviser; J. Horner; B. Evans; M. Buschman, President.

The club has done much for its members in promoting interest in things of a scientific nature. Officers are Martin Buschman, President; and Robert Johnson, Vice-President.

The Sweater Girls

"Get me a hot dog with mustard!" You've all purchased both hot dogs and candy at the football and basketball games, but have you ever wondered who sells them? The Girls' Letter Club supervises this activity.

This is an honorary club. Only those girls who have won a letter may enter. No dues are collected for this club so money must be made in other ways. This is accomplished by selling the refreshments that we all are so eager to buy at the games.

This money earned buys the letters awarded and also pays for the annual banquet given in honor of members admitted during the previous year.

The officers this year are as follows: Peggy Shaw, President; Rita Gruntz, Vice-President; and Nan Miller, Secretary-Treasurer.

First Row: J. Tutton, J. Wark, P. Hammond, M. Joslin, M. Davidson, L. Ingersoll, S. Young, P. Nonenmacher, K. Moran, J. Moran, M. Markham, A. Masterson, I. Graham, P. Mundie, D. Leeds, S. Lange.

The first model airplane club ever to exist in Kenmore High School is the Kenmore Cloud Ticklers, a club formed for the purpose of furthering interest in model airplane building among the students.

The club was started rather late in the year, but a groundwork has been laid for further development next year. A constitution was adopted, and officers were elected in November of 1945.

The officers elected were Henry Hollwedel, President; Barry Millard, Vice-president; Roger Alt, Secretary; and Pete Jansen, Treasurer.

Air-Minded Youth

Among our many organizations stands the successful Aviation Club sponsored by Mr. Cutter. Their director or Squadron Leader is Mr. Housener, local Air Scout leader; and their assistant director or Flight Instructor, Lieutenant Ennis, a returned army veteran. Officers are as follows: Squadron Pilot, Don Webster; Assistant Squadron Pilot, Paul Ballard; and Communication Scribe, Don Metro. New members are required to pass certain Air Scout requirements and to make a model airplane; then more tests are taken in order to receive merit badges. The Air Scouts supervise as the club is affiliated with this organization.

Meetings consist of round table discussions which consider aero-dynamics, aeronautics, meterology, speaker, and movies. The members plan to visit aircraft plants in the vicinity and to make a tour of Stuart Field, West Point. The trip to the U. S. Military Academy would include flying lessons; however, their work up to this time has been purely mechanical. The group hopes to obtain a used aircraft engine to study and to repair, and flying instruments which would enable the members to investigate techniques of routine flying. To anyone interested in aviation, the club offers many advantages, for it considers every known field in this variable subject.

Seams and Sauces

Those who came to Thursday night clubs meeting on the fourth floor have, no doubt, smelled the delectable odors issuing from the cooking room. And, if you haven't passed the door, you are sure to have looked with longing eyes upon the fragrant packages carried home by proud members.

Miss Wojtowicz, the Cooking and Sewing Club's adviser, divided the year into two parts. The first was devoted to cooking such things as pies, cakes, dinners, and meals for invalids. The second part was given over to sewing of any summer garment the member wished to make.

The Sketch Club is one of the many clubs that meet on Thursday evenings. The students work under the able supervision of Mr. Lindberg, a professional artist. At one time Mr. Lindberg had a commercial art studio of his own in New York City, so the students know that he can be of real assistance in any problem which might arise. The club is patterned after the sketch classes of the better professional art schools. Very few high schools have the privilege of such an exceptional club. Paid models from the Student body pose for them each week. Some of the latest have been Joan Rub, Joe Morog, Ronald Stainsby, Bernard Graham, Frank Collins, Joan Legg, Dolly Lupejkis, George Miller, Bill Mason, and Mr. Dier (a custodian). The students can work in any medium they desire, such as charcoal, pencil, or ink.

Tuesday Night Swimming Club

Making a Splash!

Miss Kauffman and Miss Gardner are in charge of the Tuesday and Thursday Night Swimming Clubs which have proved to be successful experiments in co-educational swimming. Both clubs boast large memberships and good attendance. Because the swimming is enjoyed by everyone, it is hoped that the clubs will continue during the coming years.

The dance band taught by Mr. Ortalano of Junior High School provides experience in playing modern dance music. The boys hope to be experienced enough to play for all our social functions next year, thus eliminating the necessity of hiring outside orchestras. Officers are President, Bill Plumb; Vice-President, Dave Kelly; and Secretary, Arnold Malvern.

The Popular Dance Club is under the direction of Beverly Fletcher, an alumna of K. H. S. The Club sets as its purpose the teaching of the etiquette of dance, the mastering of several different dances, and a great deal of fun for all.

The different dances learned this year have been the fox trot, the rhumba, and double time. After the lesson period, there remains half hour of free dancing time.

The Press Club was formed primarily to assist in the publication of the new school paper, The Newscaster, and to familiarize the club members with journalism techniques and allied subjects. Under the direction of Mr. Spears, the group has taken several field trips. During the course of the year, the members attended lectures on newspaper writing at Millard Fillmore College and a Sunday morning session of the city court. They also toured the Courier-Express building. Several mock interviews were staged at the club's Thursday night meetings.

Officers of the club are the following: President, Lois Ann Hall; Vice-President and Treasurer, Janet MacKinnon; Secretary, Jacqueline Samson.

The school paper, The Newscaster, has been an important item added to our school life this year. Formerly called The Rostrum, the paper had not been published for three years.

A mimeographed style was chosen rather than the printed type in order to have a timely and up-to-date newspaper. It is the object of the staff to have the newspaper the work of the whole school by allowing each student to act as an individual reporter inasmuch as everyone is eligible to submit articles.

Next year the editorial staff of The Newscaster will consist of the members of the Press Club.

Hubba! Hubba!

Under the direction of Mr. Francis McLaughlin, the cheerleading squad for 1945-46 brought KHS through another football and basketball season with spirited cheers. With Phyllis Nonenmacher as head cheerleader we nearly raised the roof at the numerous games and pep assemblies. An outstanding event this year was the choice of Katherine Moran as the best cheerleader in a contest involving all Buffalo schools. Awards were given to cheerleaders in the March Letter Day assembly: Phyllis Nonenmacher received a charm for three years on the squad; Katherine Moran, Lois Ingersoll, and Shirley Young received the large two-year letter; and Ann Masterson, Janet Moran, and Mary Markham received the small one-year letter.

The Ping-pong Club, which consists of a small group of ping-pong enthusiasts, is under Miss Marie Schuler's supervision and meets every Thursday evening. During these weekly meetings "ladder" tournaments are held with Robert Morgan and Dale Henline now vying for first place with Bob Hall a close second. For those skeptics who suppose ping-pong to be a very quiet sport Miss Schuler advises a game of "Drop Paddle" or "Round Robin" ping-pong, variations which add humor and action to the game.

Girls' Literary Club

Under the excellent guidance of their adviser, Miss Hepinstall, the Girls' Literary Club can report a very successful year.

The purpose of the program of the club this year was to acquaint its members with literary prize awards, national and international, and to study trends in literature. This program met with great success, revealing leadership and ability both in presentation and appreciation.

One of the outstanding projects of the year was the packing of thirty boxes which were sent to wounded veterans at the Marine Hospital in Buffalo.

Resuming the custom of presenting literary material to the school library, the club purchased several welcome books with funds from the exchequer.

This year's officers were Marjorie Otten, Regent; Aileen Enright, Vice-Regent; Betty Parsons, Scribe; and Mary Joslin, Keeper of the Exchequer.

The year came to a close with the annual banquet, held at Lyons' Tea Room on May 8.

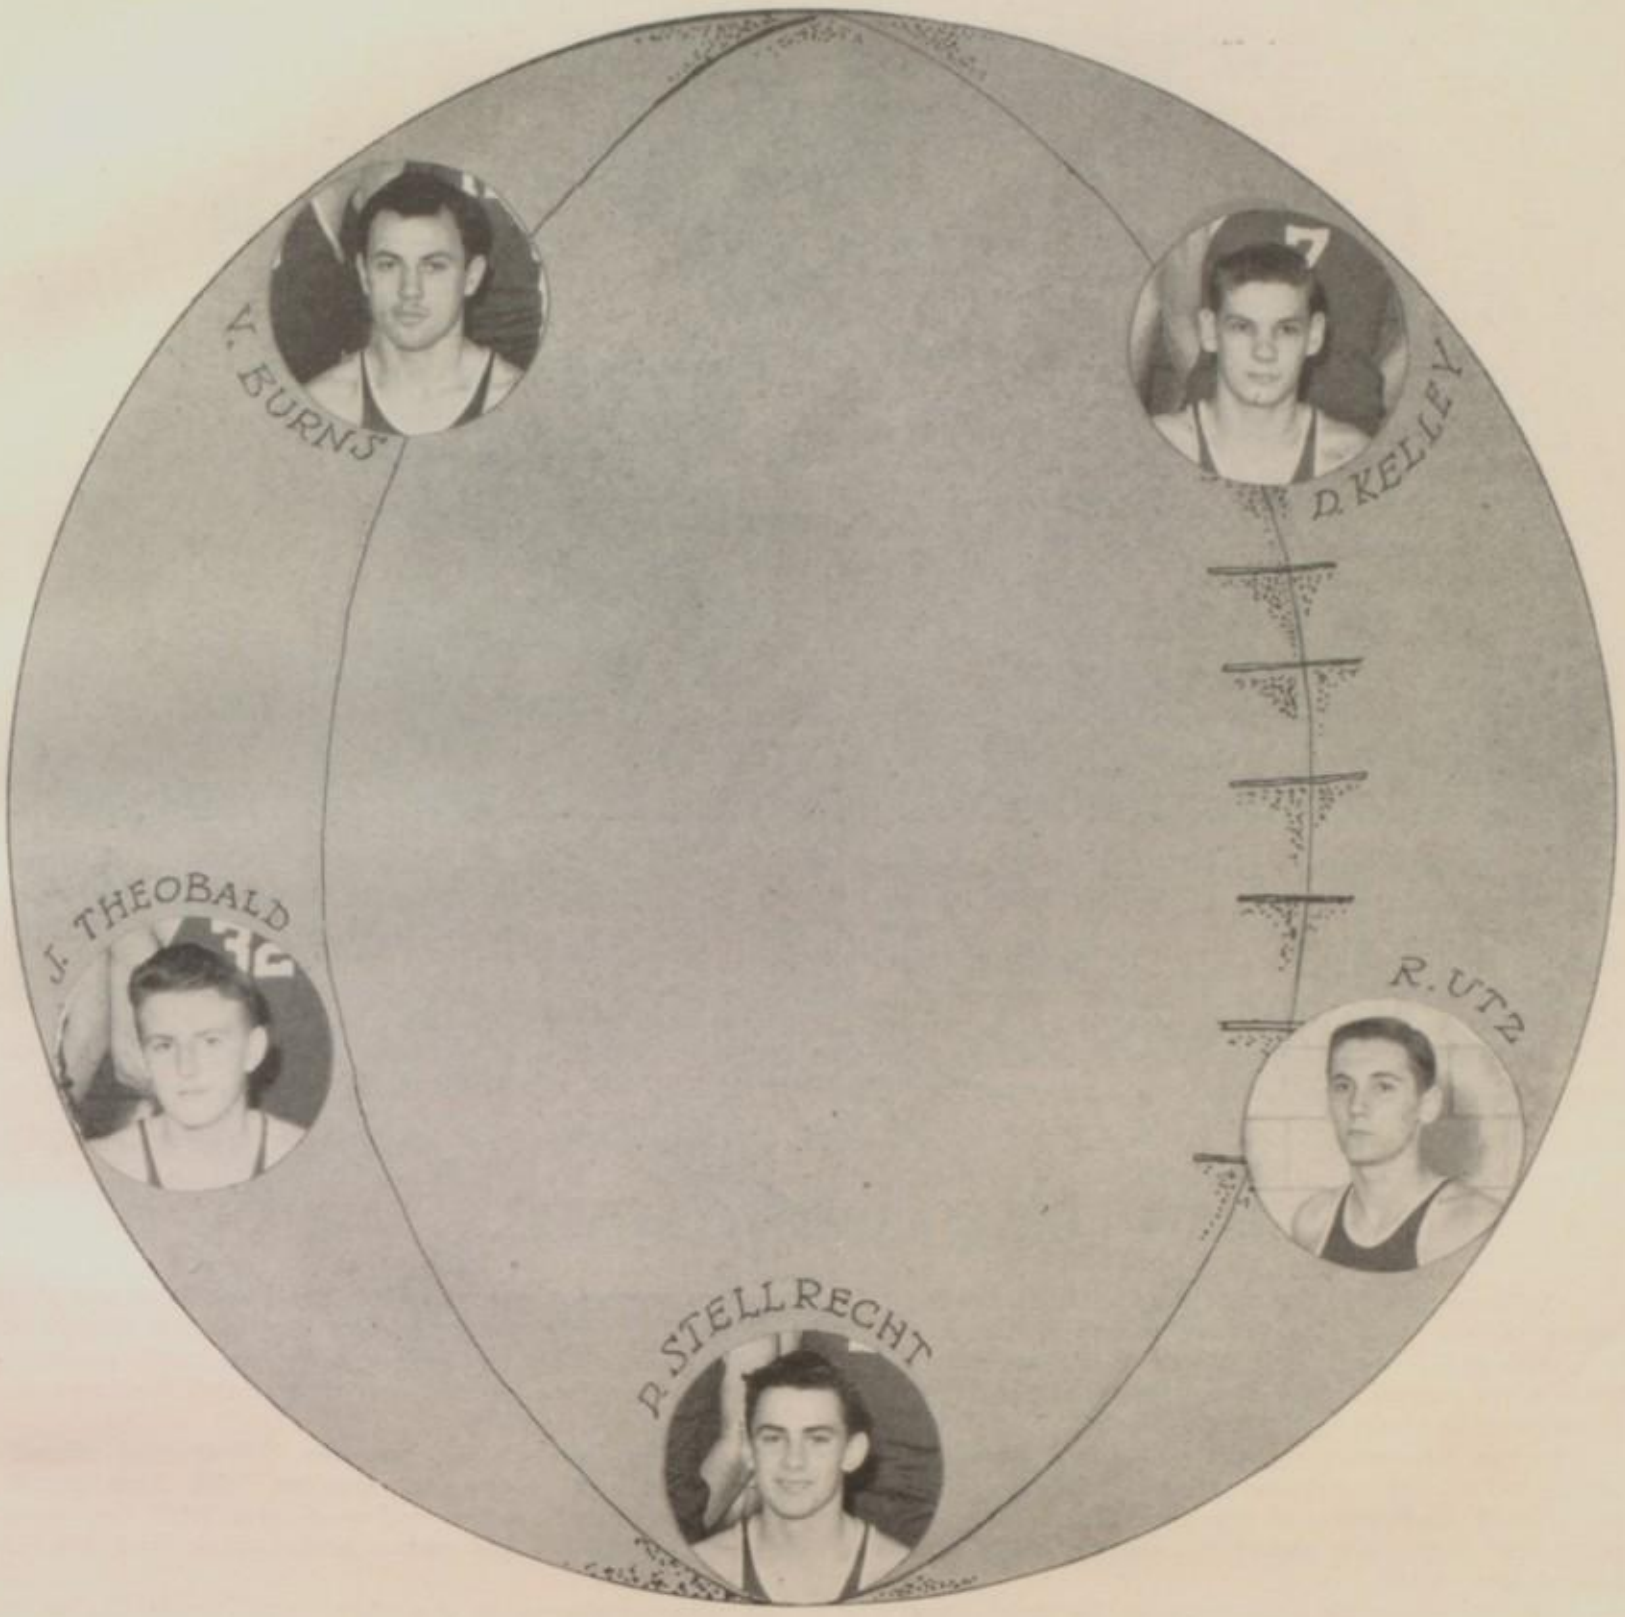
Football Co-Champs

The 1943, 1944, and 1945 football seasons will long be remembered in the annals of Kenmore High School for their unprecedented record of 21 consecutive victories by the Kenmore "Blue Devils". We have taken permanent possession of the second Colgate Cup because of the excellent playing of our gridiron champs and the superb coaching of Richard Offenhamer and LeRoy Pitkin. The only mar on Kenmore's splendid record was the upset game at the hands of the boys from North Tonawanda this past season. However, Kenmore ended the season as co-champions with North Tonawanda. Let us hope that three years hence will see a third Colgate Cup in the permanent possession of Kenmore High School.



Basketball Playoffs

The Class of '46 can look back with pride on their splendid basketball team. After a lapse of eight years, Kenmore returned to the Niagara Frontier Playoffs. Finishing the regular season in third place, the team entered the playoffs with high hopes for victory.

The first game on March 8 matched Kenmore and second place Lackawanna. During the season play the teams met twice, each one taking a victory; but that Friday night Kenmore could not be turned aside and went on to win. Score, 35-33.

Niagara Falls, holder of first place in the league competition, defeated Lockport, which triumph pitted Kenmore and Niagara Falls for the Championship on the following night.

Niagara Falls, not beaten by Kenmore in league competition, was the favorite. The ensuing fracas gave the Falls supporters many a tense moment as the Blue and White constantly threatened the small lead of the Falls quintet. As the final gun sounded the score read 38-33 in favor of Niagara.

The return of the Blue and White to the playoffs is heralded as the dawn of a new era in basketball at Kenmore.

On the Gridiron . . .

On September 1, the prospects of a successful grid campaign were far away. With two boys from the starting lineup of last year, the team opened its season on September 29 on LaSalle's field. The first quarter ended scoreless with the River Road boys deep in Blue and White territory. Trailing by twelve points in the fourth quarter, the local eleven came to life after a ninety-three yard run by Captain Jack Ross. Before the game ended, the boys scored twice to take their first victory.

In the Tonawanda game, the Kenmorites took possession of the ball on the opening kickoff and scored six points before their opponents had possession of the ball. Before the end of the first quarter, Jack Ross paced off his second touchdown of the day. Stan Westcott also tallied for the locals as he galloped over from the one-yard strip. Tom Nicholson ended the scoring on a pass from Johnny Theobald. The game ended 25-0, and the entire squad saw action.

On the following Friday night, the local aces whaled the cataract eleven on a muddy field. Don McMullen opened the scoring by smashing two yards. He was soon followed by Jack Ross, who added another six points. George Miller made good the conversion and the score stood 13-0 at the half. In the second half Tom Nicholson and Bob McCullough crossed the goal line. The conversions were made good by George Miller. Niagara Falls scored in the final quarter, ending the scoring 27-7.

Leroy Pitkin, assistant coach; Richard Offenhamer, head coach.

After adding the boys from the power city to its list of victims, Kenmore trounced Trott Vocational 40-0. Jack Ross had a field day by scoring twenty-four points. Don McMullen also tallied for the Blue and White. Steve Wiktorowski crossed the goal line standing up after a pass from McMullen. Burns and Miller each contributed to the scoring with four conversions for the day.

On October 26 the favored lads of Kenmore High were upset by a spirited North Tonawanda eleven. The Lumberjacks took advantage of the frequent fumbles and scored twice in the first half. N. T. scored again in the third quarter. George Miller hit pay dirt in the third and V. Burns made good the extra point. Our loss ended a twenty-one game winning streak established during the last three years.

The same boys who were beaten a week before by N. T. turned around and whipped Lockport 37-0. George Miller opened the scoring by lugging the pigskin five yards for six points. George scored again, and Jack Ross also tallied twice. Dick Hutton and Bob Utz scored on passes from Theobald and McMullen. Vince Burns converted for an extra point.

The local gridsters ended the season by playing an exceptional game on the steel city field. George Miller sprinted sixty-eight yards on the first play to score the game's initial touchdown. Don McMullen soon followed with a thirty-two yard gallop. Jack Ross scored his twelfth and thirteenth markers to take league scoring honors. Bob Utz scored on a pass from Don McMullen, and V. Burns kicked three extra points to make the score 39-0. Lackawanna scored in the fourth quarter against our fourth team.

The Blue Devils using the "T" formation collected 2,290 yards for 102 points, and they held the opposition to 930 yards and 32 points. Because of the efforts of Tonawanda, who beat North Tonawanda 7-6, we were able to gain permanent possession of the Colgate trophy. The Kenmore Merchants held a banquet in honor of the coaches and team at the 74th Armory. The players, as well as the coaches, received gold football charms. At the end of the festivities, Mr. Offenhamer announced that Joe Morog will captain the team of next year.

Junior Varsity

Under the watchful eyes of coaches Grefe and Witzig, the junior varsity football team provided experience and practice in the fundamentals of football for many boys who would otherwise never have received such training. These boys defeated the Lackawanna and North Tonawanda junior varsities and tied with Tonawanda. Their only loss was to the Lockport eleven. We hope that next year the team will be able to play a full schedule somewhat like that of the varsity.

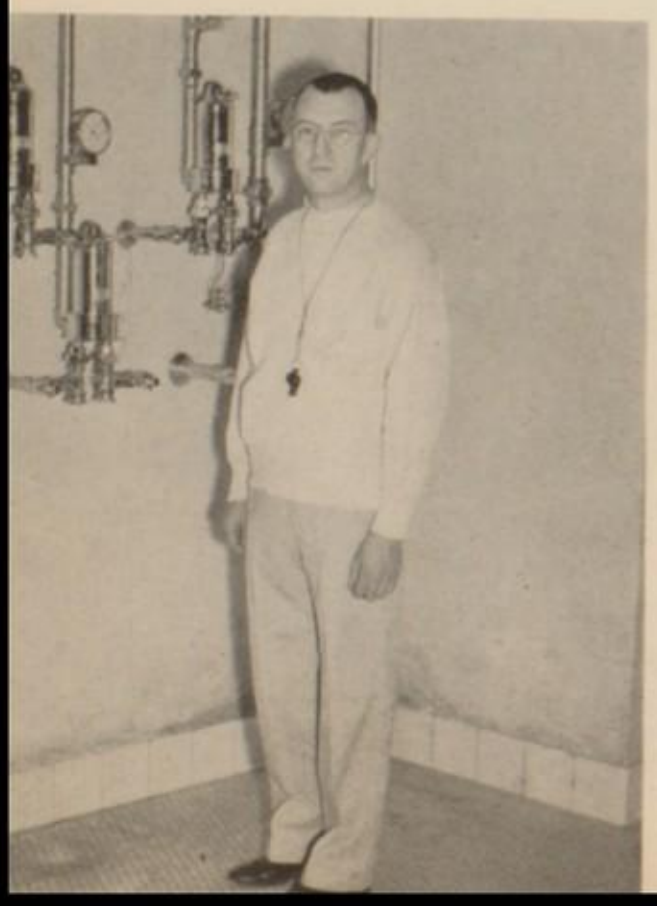
Aquatics

Following a tradition of the Kenmore swimming squad, the Kenmore team under the coaching of Charles S. Pohl, finished the swimming season with a very good record in the Niagara Frontier Swimming League. As the meets progressed, all but one of the teams in the league fell easy victims to the Kenmore mermen. In the course of the season, the Kenmore squad lost only once.

In the first meet with Niagara Falls High School, our swimmers took seven of the eight possible first places. Upon total tabulation the score stood Kenmore 46, Niagara Falls 20.

The team then met Amherst Central High School. At the end of the diving event, either team could have won, but the Kenmore swimmers calmly took the medley and the two hundred yard relays, giving Kenmore 44 points to Amherst's 22.

Charles S. Pohl, coach.



The team's next encounter was with Lockport. This was the Lock-city's first year in the swimming league. They had a very weak team but promise to provide keen competition in a short time. In this meet the second and third swimmers competed against the Lockport team doing a fine job by taking seven first places to defeat Lockport by a high score of 49 to 17.

In the course of that week, the Kenmore mermen journeyed to Tonawanda to meet an extremely powerful team. During this contest anything could have been expected, and one win or loss in any event could have given the meet to either team. In the strange pool, the Kenmore lads swam to their only defeat of the season. The final score was Tonawanda 36, Kenmore 30. The first places were taken by Jacobs, (T), Miller, (K), Peck, (K), Parmintier, (T), and McBride, (T). Tonawanda won the medley relay, and the two hundred yard relay went to Kenmore.

With the same teams participating in the next set of meets, the results of the return engagements were much the same. However, there was one exception—Tonawanda. In this meet something extraordinary occurred. A tie score resulted. This proved to be very exciting to all the fans of both teams.

At the Niagara Frontier Finals held at Kenmore this year, the Kenmore swimmers were victorious over the other teams. The scores of the finals were Kenmore 34½, Tonawanda 31, Niagara Falls 17, Amherst 15, North Tonawanda 8½. In these finals, the boys from Kenmore took three first places, three second places and three third places.

This year the team had very bad luck. At the beginning of the season, the team lost Captain Roger Hancher, and the Backstroker, Bill Whallon, because of sickness. These two boys were the first and second backstrokers on the team, but Henry Cornell took over and did a very good job of swimming that difficult stroke.

On any team there is always a man who has the hard work of keeping the team in shape. Much credit is due to our very capable senior manager, John Oliver, and our junior and sophomore managers—Jim Reickert, Jack Miller, and Dave White.

"B" Team

Our junior varsity team came through this year with an undefeated season. The future varsity swimmers beat all the other "B" teams in the league with ease. The following swimmers usually took first places: 50 yard free style, Lew Morgan; 100 yard breast stroke, Jim Spencer; 200 yard free style, Bruce Knight; 100 yard back stroke, Jim Hicks; 100 yard free style, Don Coon. The Kenmore second men in each of these events followed the first men very closely to take second places. From the showing made this year, these swimmers will undoubtedly develop into a fine team in 1947.

Cage Quintet

Mention 1946 and basketball to any Kenmorite, and you will incite in him a vivid memory of one of the finest cage teams to take the court for the Blue and White in many years. The season got under way with a game at Lockport on Pearl Harbor Day, 1945. The Lock City team was reportedly tops, and the Kenmorites arrived with some inhibitions. The ensuing contest will go down in the annals of local sports as one of the finest court games ever staged. The game went into two overtime periods, with Dick Hutton tieing up the first and Louie Parr winning the game with a spectacular toss in the "sudden death" period. Final score, 33-35 for the Blue.

Dec. 14, Kenmore met an untimely defeat at the hands of a North Tonawanda five, 29-24.

Dec. 19 saw Kenmore at the Falls where they dropped the season's heartbreaker to a still lukewarm Electric City quintet, 42-40.

Jan. 4, the team started the New Year right with a win over Tonawanda, 33-29.

Jan. 11, Kenmore at LaSalle, a K victory, 38-28.

Jan. 18, the Kenmorites took a 52-42 win from Trott.

Jan. 25, the last game of the first round, with Kenmore playing host to Lackawanna. Result, Ken-49, Lack-31.

Chester A. Bollier, coach.

Feb. 1. In the first game of the second round, the K's met Lockport once more on the local court and split hairs on another close and well fought game. Final tally K-37, L-36.

Feb. 8, Kenmore lashed North Tonawanda, 44-27.

Feb. 11, the locals dropped an inevitable defeat to the undefeated Falls team, 42-29.

Feb. 15, Kenmore at Tonawanda, a win for the travelers, 42-27.

Feb. 21, LaSalle visited the Fair Village, with the locals taking a 37-17 win.

Feb. 26, the Trotters visited, lost to a rolling Ken team, 43-31.

The final game of the season pitted Kenmore against Lackawanna on the Steel City court. In one of the hardest played games of the season, the Blue and White missed the train by 2 counters, leaving a 35-33 score glaring on the scoreboard.

When the final tabulations were collected and perused, the judges found the twice-defeated Falls team topped the league, with Lackawanna in second, Kenmore in third, and Lockport in fourth place. This marked the first time in eight years that a Kenmore team had qualified for the playoffs. Perhaps much of the credit for the team's fine record could be given to one or two players, but upon close examination of the facts, we find that it was more likely the concerted efforts of a closely knit organization ably captained by Skip Stellrecht. The boys who comprised the first team—Skip Stellrecht, 139 pts. scored, Vince Burns, 79 pts., Bob Utz, center and sparkplug with a high of 148 pts. an outstanding player, Johnny Theobald, 67 pts., and Dick Hutton, 68 pts.—provided a form after which the other teams were fashioned. Substitutions were made freely, with a knowing confidence on the part of Coach Chet Bollier. Every one of the boys in the picture contributed his bit to the final outcome of the season. Louie Parr and Johnny Theobald will be co-captains next year. So we close the book on a superb, never-to-be-forgotten year in basketball.

Junior Varsity

This year the junior varsity basketball team was directed by a new coach, Albert Witzig. Under his capable guidance, the team won nine games and lost five. Don Bartrip gave John McClatchey stiff competition for the high scoring position; however, the entire squad was used to produce the winning games. The experience these boys have had on the junior varsity will undoubtedly make them better players when the time comes for them to perform on Kenmore's varsity basketball team.

The Cinder Path

Again in 1945 the mercury-footed athletes from our halls emerged unbeaten from a strenuous track season in Zone VI. Under Coach Chet Bollier's capable guidance, our track and field men ran up five decisive wins during the spring. Our track team has rung up a record unequalled by other varsity teams in having successfully gone through five annual schedules without a defeat.

The fleet and able cinder artists made their debut last year at Lockport and came off with a 38 to 66 score in their favor. Two Buffalo schools, Kensington and Seneca, attempted to upset us in a practice meet. However, they met stronger opposition than had been expected, and their scores were 34½ and 20 points respectively against our 53½. Lockport and North Tonawanda then tried to overtake our boys, but got only 31 points for Lockport and 17 for North Tonawanda, while Kenmore got 59. They had another opportunity to defeat us the next week, but all they could see were our heels. Kenmore totaled 75¼ points against Lockport's 31 and North Tonawanda's 23¾. The season was concluded with the Zone VI meet at our track. We captured first place by defeating Hamburg, Lockport, Pine Hill, Amherst, Gowanda, Franklinville, Lancaster, North Tonawanda and East Aurora, who placed in the order named.

As usual, it was a large number of competent members who brought the team its success. Somogye led the field in discus and shot-put, with Graham, Kraus and Hayes making up his competition. Stan Burnett was undefeated in the mile, while John Hill, an upcoming junior, ran second in every race but one. Jack Ross earned his honors by winning every broad jump event and all but one hundred yard dash. Rung and Hutton fought for second and third places throughout the season behind Don Hall who was busy taking a majority of firsts in the half mile. Captain Dick Walters and Dave Bauer were running mates of Frank Collins who was undefeated in the quarter mile. In the hurdles, Kelley and Goldsmith did a fine job. Miller and Westcott were outstanding in the 220. Bruce Care and Doug Kelley did most of the high-jumping, and our pole vaulters included Svilokos and Parr. Miller, Westcott, Walters, Kelly, Goldsmith, Ross and Fleischmann made up our relay team which won in all but one event. Records were captured by Roy Somogye, who threw the shot 43' 11½"; Pete Miller, who ran the 220 in 22.8 seconds; and Rick Burnett, who covered the mile in 4 minutes 40 seconds.

We hope that this year's team has distinguished itself as well as did our squad of '45.
